Q1. PROPOSAL DESCRIPTION

Provide a brief abstract of the Proposal. Please note if the Proposal will facilitate or support the participation of DAC's in the IRWM planning effort.

For more than a decade, water management entities within Yuba County have worked together to improve water management in the region by addressing local issues such as providing flood protection to protect lives and property, and providing reliable water supplies to meet agricultural and urban water needs while protecting the fisheries and riparian resources of the Yuba River. In 2005, water agencies, stakeholders, and interested parties of the Yuba Region formed a Regional Water Management Group (RWMG) to prepare the Yuba IRWM Plan. The Yuba IRWM Plan was completed in 2008 and adopted by 10 agencies that participated in the development of the Plan. The Yuba Region participated in the Department of Water Resources??? (DWR) Region Acceptance Process (RAP) in 2009 and has been approved to compete in the next round of IRWMP grants. The key water management issues that have been highlighted within the region: ?? Flood Management Issues ?? Water Supply Reliability (including groundwater management and conjunctive use) ?? Ecosystem Preservation and Enhancement ?? Water Quality (discharge?) These issues were addressed in the objectives and the water management strategies as part of the Yuba IRWMP prepared in 2008 (referred to as the 2008 Plan). To provide fair representation for the Yuba Region, it is imperative that the RWMG implement a collaborative, multi-stakeholder process. The stakeholder outreach process includes a comprehensive effort to activate and engage stakeholders, including Disadvantaged Communities (DACs), in the IRWMP process. Similar to the stakeholder outreach process, the RWMG plans to engage the public, including people within DACs, and encourage their involvement throughout the process to ensure their water-related needs were identified in the 2008 Plan. While much of Yuba County is identified as DACs, the water related services are not organized around the DAC???. Different agencies provide the various water management services within their jurisdiction which often include DAC???. The Plan Update (this project) will continue to work with the local agencies to identify projects to address the needs of the DACs. Many DAC- related projects that improve water supply reliability or enhanced water quality tend to be localized and serve a small area. Additional support has been allocated to support the development of projects serving DAC???. so sufficient information is available to describe the project, and find ways to integrate the project into larger programs. One of the roles of the Project Integration Subcommittee (described in the application) is to look for opportunities to combine individual projects (including DAC projects) into larger programs that meet multiple objectives.
